

Summary

iTechnology Forms Accelerator™ is a complete BPM (Business Process Management) and workflow management system. Forms Accelerator, together with K2 blackpearl™ and Visio 2007, includes all the tools needed to perform process modeling, data capturing, task processing, workflow distribution, routing by rules, retrieval and viewing. Additionally, iTechnology Forms Accelerator™ has its own layout designer for defining user interfaces and presenting task information in web forms without usage of InfoPath™ or custom web development. Now BPM solution, developed by iTechnology, integrates all the necessary tools in one single, easy to use interface designed for business analysts and department managers.

iTechnology Forms Accelerator™ extends K2[blackpearl] framework, allowing easy design and modification of the business process as separate tasks to be performed to reach the final goal. Integration of process modeling, data capturing and web forms allows businesses immediate implementation of the processes as a production-ready workflow management solution, without any scripting or programming.

iTechnology Forms Accelerator™ is the most robust automation solution in the industry when InfoPath or custom solution development is prohibitive or too expensive. The Forms Accelerator is specifically designed for non-technical business users. Now, with iTechnology Forms Accelerator business process automation can be implemented by the same people who own the knowledge of the business practices, internal rules and exceptions.

Easy to use, end-user oriented interface

No software coding expertise is required. iTechnology Forms Accelerator solution contains all the tools necessary to create new processes, define data elements relevant to the process, design user interface layout, and administer the security privileges granted to perform functions in the process. This complete constructed product differs from other products in the market as it empowers the end-user organization to construct, validate, analyze, modify, and implement the software solution

“In the first instance, we were looking for a more proactive way to manage our custom product procurement processes. Traditionally our procurement department would be dependent on employees manually requesting purchase orders through in-house accounting software. Now, procurement specialists automatically receive real-time requests for all purchase orders through iTechnology Forms Accelerator. The benefits have been significant with a reduction in time and strict control and the delivery of total visibility being the most prominent”

to meet their business processing needs, without dependence on a vendor or IT department for simple or even complex modifications. The Forms Accelerator is so easy to use, iTechnology customers implement their own solutions in organizations ranging from 5 to 100 of users.

Objectively more efficient than similar InfoPath/MOSS or Custom Developed solutions

iTechnology Forms Accelerator™ does not require InfoPath and SharePoint. In many situations, your business can redirect MOSS and InfoPath high licensing costs to more worthwhile projects. The Forms Accelerator enables web form development with custom fields and page layouts without complexity and cost of InfoPath. Since iTechnology

Forms Accelerator does not lock your business logic inside the software code, it provides both cost savings and preserves process agility compared to custom solution development.

iTechnology Forms Accelerator gets you up and running faster

The end result is an automated process that has been tested in a simulation environment, the obvious kinks worked out. The users on the network have a stable, efficient workflow from the first day of production, without interrupting their activities to test prototypes. Over time, as further analysis is conducted on improving the work processes, modification can be tested in a staging environment, and when they are approved for production, those changes will be implemented immediately.

iTechnology Forms Accelerator grows and evolves

Hence, iTechnology Forms Accelerator allows an ongoing evolutionary process for the user organization to become more and more efficient over time. Many of our competitors require a radical revolutionary change up front, and each additional change over the life of the product requires software developers to modify and "hard code" changes to the product, which takes a longer period of time and is very disruptive and expensive. iTechnology Forms Accelerator empowers end users to make all changes, both present and in the future.
